CIT 202 : Management Information Systems

Spring
This course introduces the student to such topics as systems theory, systems analysis, methodologies, and the organizational role of information. Management considerations and systems security are emphasized.
Credits 3