

REL 100 : World Religions/Religious Studies

Fall, Spring - Even Year, Summer

This course examines the nature and development of religion. Students will study the origins, history, and sacred practices of the five major religions of the world, and examine the literary, historical, and cultural contributions of these religions.

Credits 3